

THEN

Selena's bust was significantly smaller back in February

NOW

Despite sweat stains indicating a hot day, Selena's nipples appear rather alert – suggesting artificial enhancement

Busty babe Selena proudly displayed her chest during a girls' night out last week.

Selena's BOOB JOB FOR BIEBER!

Booty trap

Our insider says Selena's next goal is a butt lift – all for Justin.

Selena goes from B to DD to win back her ex

The petite starlet was grinning from ear to ear when she stepped out in New York last week. But a very revealing top ensured it wasn't Selena Gomez's beautiful smile we were looking at – all eyes were on her generously proportioned bosom!

Something you'd like to get off your chest, Sel?

With not a bra in sight to suggest a push-up, her larger-than-life breasts have prompted whispers Selena's taken drastic measures to try and win back her on-off beau Justin Bieber.

Indeed, Sydney plastic surgeon Dr Laith Barnouti has reviewed the new pics of Selena, who turns 22 next week, and says her extreme cleavage is the result of implants placed above the pectoral muscle – commonly referred to as 'bolt-ons'.

"You can see the sharp edge of the implant," he confirms, estimating the now-buxom brunette's upgraded her a B-cup to a double-D.

And while we're all for Selena owning it when it comes to her own body, her motivation is worrying – we hear she's been toying with the idea of a boob job for ages in order to please Justin!

"He's always admitted to being a 'boob man' and dropped hint after hint to Selena about going under the knife," spills our exclusive insider.

"It's pretty gross, but that's the type of guy he is and the tragedy is that he mesmerises Selena."

Of course, while the pair officially split in November 2012, their on-again, off-again shenanigans have kept us – and the rest of the world – captivated ever since.

But despite reuniting with Sel last month for a series of dates, bad boy Biebs, 20, has shocked fans by getting cosy with a number of beautiful – not to mention voluptuous! – women.

As well as reportedly cuddling up to Hollywood stunner Sophia Bush, 32, at his manager Scooter Braun's wedding, JB's been spotted in some rather lovey-dovey snaps on model Yovanna Ventura's Instagram account – where the 24-year-old dubs him the "sweetest guy ever".

Plus, last month rumours circulated that he'd indulged in a threesome after Chantel Jeffries – his rather busty long-time friend – posted a suggestive pic showing the singer snuggled up between herself and another gal pal.

No wonder Selena's feeling insecure!

But it seems JB himself has previously suggested that his on-off girlfriend isn't aware of her natural beauty.

"What makes you so beautiful is that you don't know how beautiful you are... to me," he tweeted back in 2011 during Jelena's heyday.

Sadly, we hear Biebs is happy to sow his oats for now, whereas everything Selena does – including her apparent bust boost – is in the hope of a future with Justin.

But if you ask us, Selena's perfect just the way she is! ■

'BOLT-ONS' ARE BACK!

Victoria Beckham was once queen of the 'bolt-ons', but Posh ditched her DD-cup implants in 2009 – still, boobs à la Beckham appear to be back in a big way!

"There certainly has been an increase in patients requesting larger-sized implants," says cosmetic surgeon Dr Daniel Kwok from The Cosmetic Institute in Sydney.

"The obvious, fuller style is coming back into fashion."

Before

Miranda

Word is Miranda Kerr plumped up her A-cups by two sizes post-split.

After

Naya

She denies it, but Naya Rivera is said to have gone from a B- to a D-cup.

Nicole

Nicole Kidman was suspiciously chesty in Melbourne last month.

Taylor

We hear Taylor Swift subtly boosted her bust from an A- to a B-cup.

